Craig's Story: Plan & Protect Your Family— We can Help!

By: Carlos J. Reyes, Esq.

Recently my sister-in-law called us, to say that my brother-in-law Craig was taken to the hospital by ambulance for severe intestinal pain. He required emergency surgery for an intestinal blockage. It was one of those times that a quick response by his wife saved his life. His condition was life threatening and required immediate surgery. Thanks to a wonderful surgeon at his local hospital, the procedure was a success and after one week, he was sent home with strict care instructions so he would heal properly. We were thankful that our family story had a happy ending.

But here's the real reason I'm telling you this story. The day Craig got home from the hospital, he called my wife, his sister. He told her it was a life changing experience and he was so moved by the love and dedication his wife demonstrated that evening and how she stayed with him every day and night while he was in the hospital. As a husband, father and grandfather, he thought about what would happen to his wife or his daughter and her family. They all relied on him in some way or another. He had no plan in place should he become severely ill or pass away unexpectedly. He was calling us for our help knowing my legal practice includes preparing Wills, Powers of Attorney, and other estate planning documents. I admired him for taking this important step to protect his family. In turn, it motivated me to share this story and reach out to all of you as our nation faces the current healthcare crisis. We have an estate planning practice for a reason—we want to help families protect their loved ones.

We keep it simple. Our families are our most important treasure. I'm reaching out to you just in case you don't have a plan in place. We keep it simple.
